It was destined to be a great Sports Spectacular when, in the beginning, Scott Rubin strolled in as the Statue of Liberty for East, Lee Eisner entered as Colonel Sanders for South, Mike Jelinek arrived as "A Surfing Dude" from West, and Jon Torshen graced us as "The Great White Man" from North.

The coaches did a fine job directing their various competition teams. Hats off to those brave coaches for their patience and good spirited leadership, (especially during the Spotlight on the Coaches events!).
